Bob Howsam President

Now in his 11th season as leader of the Big Red Machine, the Reds have become baseball's best franchise since Howsam was named General Manager of the club on Jan. 22, 1967, coming to Cincinnati from the St. Louis Cardinals.

Since taking over command in Cincinnati, the Reds have dominated the National League this decade, winning five division championships, four National League pennants and back to back world championships, the first time that was accomplished in the N.L. in more than 50 years.

Howsam began his baseball career in Denver 30 years ago when his family purchased the Denver franchise in 1948. It was there he made his first mark on the game. He drew more than 463,000 fans in one season and set a 10-year minor league attendance mark that still stands today. Always promotional minded, Howsam established all kinds of programs for young baseball fans, such as the Straight A program. Today, this is one of the Reds' most successful programs.

He was honored as Executive of the Year twice at Denver and then added a third award with the Reds in 1973 when he was voted major league Executive of the Year by his fellow executives. He joined such greats as Branch Rickey and George Weiss as three-time Executive of the Year winners.

Howsam was one of the founders of the American Football League and in the late fifties headed an investment company. But the lure of baseball was always there and one call from Rickey was all it took for Howsam to resume his baseball career in the mid-sixties.

That was in 1964 when he was named General Manager of the St. Louis Cardinals. He remained there until 1967 when a group of civic minded businessmen purchased the Cincinnati franchise and asked Howsam to be General Manager. He later added the title of Executive Vice President and in 1973 was named President and Chief Executive Officer.

The Reds' president was born on Feb. 28, 1918 and is married to the former Janet Johnson. They have two sons, Robert, Jr., who is an executive with an advertising agency in New York, and Edwin, a Reds' Scouting Supervisor in Arizona and New Mexico who lives in Phoenix.

Dick Wagner

Executive

Vice President

Dick Wagner, who has a varied background in the entertainment field and is a veteran baseball executive, was named Executive Vice President of the Cincinnati Reds on April 20, 1976.

A native of Central City, Neb., Wagner joined the Reds on Feb. 1, 1967 and has been club President Bob Howsam's No. 1 aide and right-hand man since.

Wagner is a perfect example of what happens to a man when he gets baseball in his blood. He has left the game for other facets of the entertainment world, but could never stay away.

Baseball has been a major part of Wagner's life since he first entered the game as a teenager in 1947, working for the Class D Thomasville, Ga., team. He spent 11 years running minor league clubs and in 1958 he was named the Sporting News Minor League Executive of the Year at Lincoln, Neb., in the Western League.

He has also been Director of Promotion for Ice Capades; General Manager of radio station KSAL in Salina, Kan.; manager of the Lincoln Pershing Auditorium in Lincoln, Neb.; and General Manager of the Forum in Los Angeles, the arena that houses Jack Kent Cooke's sports empire.

Wagner was at the Forum only six months when Bob Howsam lured him back to baseball. Wagner joined the St. Louis Cardinals as Director of Promotion and Sales. And when Howsam came to Cincinnati, Wagner followed as his top aide.

Wagner and his wife Gloria have a son, Randy, who is a graduate student at Yale, and a daughter, Cindy, a student at the University of Cincinnati.

manager in winning percentage, moving past Baltimore's Earl Weaver with his third 100-plus victory season. Sparky was a virtual unknown when General Manager Bob Howsam named him the Reds manager on Oct. 9, 1969. That appointment capped a whirlwind 24 hours for him. Just one day prior to signing with the Reds, Sparky had been appointed to the coaching staff of the California Angels. The Howsam-Anderson team started in 1965 when Howsam, then General Manager of the Cardinals, appointed Sparky manager of the Class A Rock Hill farm team. In 1968 Sparky joined the Reds' organization and managed at Class AA Asheville. He was a coach for Preston Gomez at San Diego in '69 before coming to Cincinnati. Twice he has been the National League's Manager of the Year — 1972 and 1975 — and he was runnerup in 1976. Only Bill McKechnie managed the Reds (nine seasons) longer than Anderson.

Righthanded pitcher Santo Alcala played a big role in Cincinnati's early surge in 1976 that took them to the top of the Western Division of the National League. Alcala won five straight games in May and June, including an impressive 2-0 shutout over Tom Seaver and the New York Mets May 15. Alcala started the season in the Reds' bullpen, but moved into the starting rotation May 8. He gave the Reds a big boost beating the Cubs, 14-4, allowing only two hits in seven innings of work that afternoon in Wrigley Field. One of seven Cincinnati pitchers with more than 10 victories, Alcala won 11 of his first 14 decisions, including route-going performances July 17 against Montreal and Aug. 23 against Atlanta. He is the tallest player on the Reds' roster, standing six feet, six inches.

Reds Pitchers Set N.L. Record

The 1976 Cincinnati Reds' pitching staff accomplished something no other National League team in history ever attained. Cincinnati had seven pitchers with at least 10 victories.

Double figure winners were Gary Nolan (15), Pat Zachry (14), Jack Billingham (12), Fred Norman (12), Rawly Eastwick (11), Santo Alcala (11) and Don Gullett (11).

Two American League teams have accomplished this, the 1938 Yankees and the 1914 A's.

Ed Armbrister

No. 33. Outfielder. Born 7-4-48, Nassau, Bahamas. Resides Nassau, Bahamas. Bats Right. Throws Right. Ht. 6-1. Wt. 175. Married Yvonne Justina. Children Dionne, Phyllis, Sheryl. Acquired from Houston with Joe Morgan, Jack Billingham, Denis Menke and Cesar Geronimo for Tommy Helms, Lee May and Jimmy Stewart. Full Name Edison Rosander Armbrister.

Ed Armbrister was seldom a starter in 1976, but when he did, the 28-year-old outfielder made the most of it. Take the night of Saturday, July 31, for example. Starting in left field and batting second in the lineup against San Diego, Ed hit two home runs in his first two times up off lefthander Brent Strom. And then he paid the price for success — a knockdown pitch put him down the third time up. Ed went on to collect four hits in that game, the best of his career. Manager Sparky Anderson frequently called on Armbrister as a pinch-hitter and he responded with seven hits in his first 17 pinch-hitting appearances. One of the few Bahamas natives to play in the major leagues, Armbrister came to the Cincinnati organization from the Houston Astros prior to the 1972 season.

Bob Bailey

No. 11. Outfielder. Born 10-13-42, Long Beach, Calif. Resides Cincinnati. Bats Right. Throws Right. Ht. 6-0. Wt. 187. Married Karen Crozier 11-18-61. Children Caroline, Stefanie and Robbie. Acquired from Montreal for Clay Kirby 12-12-75. Full Name Robert Sherwood Bailey.

After 14 full seasons in the major leagues, Bob Bailey finally cashed his first World Series check. The National League veteran came to the Reds in an off-season deal with Montreal prior to the 1976 campaign and he contributed often to the Reds' offensive punch, as a pinch-hitter and spot starter in left field. He tied with Mike Lum for the most pinch-hits, 10, and finished the season in a flurry, collecting five consecutive pinch-hits in August and September. He had a .370 pinch-hitting average. Often used when opponents started lefthanded pitchers, Bailey rapped a pair of home runs in a starting assignment against Houston, July 3, as the Reds nipped the Astros, 9-8. Thirteen of Bob's first 28 hits were for extra bases, including six home runs.

Johnny Bench

No. 5. Catcher. Born 12-7-47, Oklahoma City, Okla. Resides Cincinnati, O. Bats Right. Throws Right. Ht. 6-1. Wt. 215. Single. Acquired as No. 2 draft choice, Regular Phase, June, 1965. Full Name Johnny Lee Bench.

Johnny Bench has long been rated one of the best pressure players in baseball. And in 1976 he was up to his old tricks again in the Championship Series and World Series. Pressure-packed home runs have become a Bench trademark. He hit the famous game-tying shot off Dave Giusti in Game 5 of the 1972 LCS. He beat Tom Seaver with a ninth inning home run in Game 1 of the 1973 playoffs. And in 1976 he belted another home run that will be long remembered. The Reds trailed the Phils in the bottom of the ninth, 6-5, when Bench connected off Ron Reed to tie the game. Cincinnati went on to score another run and win that game, giving Johnny more chances in the World Series. He made the most of those opportunities. Bench, named the Most Valuable Player of the World Series, hit .533 (8 for 15) and delivered the coup de grace to the Yankees smashing a pair of home runs in the fourth game. The first, a two-run homer in the fourth inning, hit the foul pole in left field and put the Reds ahead, 3-2. His second of the game came in the top of the ninth and insured the Cincinnati victory. Two men were on base when Johnny lined Dick Tidrow's offering over the 385-foot sign in left center at Yankee Stadium. "I feel like I've given something back to my teammates," Bench said. "A lot of people stuck with me through the year." It wasn't a good regular season for Bench, who fought off nagging injuries through the first half of the season. He batted .234, lowest in his career. Bench's .533 average was the fourth highest in World Series competition. Only Babe Ruth (.625 in 1928), Hank Gowdy (.545 in 1914) and Lou Gehrig (.545 in 1928) ever amassed higher Series marks than Bench did. For the ninth straight year Bench was voted the Gold Glove award in the National League, symbolic of defensive supremacy. Bench's defensive record in post-season play is outstanding. Catching every inning of 42 LCS and World Series games the Reds have been in since 1970, Bench has had only two bases stolen against him. Matty Alou swiped one in 1972 and Mickey Rivers got No. 2 in Game 4 last year. In LCS play, opponents have tried only three steals, getting nailed all three times. Bench has thrown out 11 of 13 base runners in World Series games. If Bench knocks in at least 71 runs in 1977, he will become only the third Cin-

Jack Billingham

No. 43. Pitcher. Born 2-21-43, Winter Park, Fla. Resides Winter Park, Fla. Bats Right. Throws Right. Ht. 6-4. Wt. 215. Married Jolene Suslar, 10-9-64. Children John and Jennifer. Acquired from Houston with Denis Menke, Joe Morgan, Cesar Geronimo and Ed Armbrister for Lee May, Tommy Helms and Jimmy Stewart, 11-29-71. Full Name John Eugene Billingham.

Standout World Series pitching and Jack Billingham have become synonymous during the last three World Series that the Reds have appeared in. The tall righthander worked in 2.2 innings in 1976, lowering his Series career earned run average to 0.35, lowest of any World Series pitcher in history with 25 or more innings. Jack was called on in relief in Game 2 and responded by retiring all eight New York batters he faced. Meanwhile, the Reds scored a run in the bottom of the ninth and handed Billingham his second career Series triumph. Billingham has now appeared in 26 World Series innings and has allowed only one earned run. Billingham's 1976 campaign was somewhat like a roller-coaster ride. It had its peaks and valleys. A four-game winning streak fashioned by the Florida native couldn't have come at a more opportune time for the Reds. Billingham came out of the bullpen during a long road trip and sparked the Cincinnati pitching staff in August. He started off with a three-hit shutout over San Francisco Aug. 3, beat the Los Angeles Dodgers in his next start, followed with a triumph over the Mets in New York and won his fourth straight when he beat the Braves at home on Aug. 18. The win in Los Angeles was a key game for Cincinnati. It increased the Reds' lead to an insurmountable 13½ games over the Dodgers as Cincinnati finished off their arch-rivals with a four-game sweep at Dodger Stadium. Another of Billingham's peaks in 1976 came on May 7 when he beat the Cubs, 3-1. It was his 100th career victory. Billingham missed the Championship Series. After compiling another four-game winning streak in September, when he allowed only four earned runs in 33.2 innings, Jack suffered a muscle spasm in his right bicep in his final season start and missed the action against the Phillies, Pitching coach Larry Shepard is one of Jack's biggest boosters. "You really have to pull hard for a guy like Billingham," said Shep. "He always tries so hard. You'll never hear him alibi."

Pedro Borbon

Relief specialist Pedro Borbon remained one of the busiest pitchers in the major leagues in 1976. Manager Sparky Anderson called on the Dominican righthander 69 times in the championship season, marking the fifth consecutive year that Borbon appeared in more than 60 games. Borbon's earned run average of 3.35 does not indicate his effectiveness throughout the season as he was one of the best stoppers in the National League. In one stretch between mid-June and early July Borbon made 10 appearances and allowed only one run in 23 innings. And from mid-May through the first week of July, Pedro gave up just four earned runs in 41.2 innings, an ERA during that stretch of 0.86. During the past five seasons Borbon has established himself as one of the hardest workers in baseball. He has appeared in 351 games, second in the National League to Mike Marshall's 374 since 1972. Pedro got his first start in four years during the '76 season. He was the starter at Montreal on July 6. That was his fourth major league start, but starting is nothing new to Borbon. Each winter in the Dominican Republic he is a starter. Borbon remained one of the most effective League Championship Series pitchers ever. Working in two games against the Phils, he pitched four scoreless innings, lowering his career LCS earned run average to 0.64 in 10 appearances. Pedro also pitched two scoreless innings in the World Series.

Dave Concepcion remained the premier shortstop in the National League in 1976 as he batted over .280 for the third time in the past four seasons and won his third consecutive Gold Glove, which signifies fielding excellence. The Venezuela native is also one of the best "clutch" hitters in baseball. He led the Reds with 15 game-winning RBI and five times during the 1976 season he knocked in the deciding run in a one-run game. Also, five times he had a game-winning RBI in the Reds' final at bat. Concepcion recorded new career highs in doubles (28) and triples (7) and finished with his second best home run total (9) and RBI count (69). Concepcion was a starter for the second straight year in the All-Star game and was voted the shortstop on the Associated Press post-season all-star team. He had five hits against St. Louis on June 4. He found San Diego and New York pitching to his liking. Three times — May 23, June 29 and July 31 — Dave had four hits in a game vs. San Diego while he had four hits, including a pair of home runs, against the Mets on Aug. 13. He batted .366 in 12 games against New York and hit .356 against the Padres. Concepcion now has 149 career stolen bases as he topped the 20-mark for the fourth straight year in 1976. Dave's next stolen base will tie him with Miller Huggins for 10th place on the all-time Reds' list.

Dan Driessen

No. 22. First Baseman. Born 7-29-51, Hilton Head, S.C. Resides Hilton Head, S.C. Bats Left. Throws Right. Ht. 5-11. Wt. 187. Married. Acquired as free agent. Full Name Daniel Driessen.

While Dan Driessen is generally not regarded as a home run hitter, two of his most memorable hits in 1976 were roundtrippers. The first came in a pinch-hitting role Sept. 3 in Atlanta. The Braves had rallied to tie the score at 5-5 and the Reds seemed in danger of having another game sliced off their lead over Los Angeles. But Driessen stepped up in the eighth inning against Adrian Devine with two men on base and when Dan was finished circling the bases the Reds were ahead 8-5 and headed for a victory. That kept Cincinnati seven games ahead of Los Angeles and the Reds went on to win by 10 games. Another big home run came in the World Series where Dan was the Reds' designated hitter. It came in Game 3 and gave the Reds a 4-2 lead over the Yankees, a game Cincinnati captured 6-2.

One of Manager Sparky Anderson's most frequently used pinch-hitters, Driessen clouted yet another pinch-hit home run during the regular season. That came in the bottom of the ninth on Aug. 26 against Philadelphia and tied the score, but the Phils went on to win in 13 innings. He had the second five-RBI game of his career on June 25 when he battered Houston pitching and between June 25 and July 26 he was Cincinnati's hottest hitter, batting .455 with 25 hits in 55 times at bat. A first baseman by trade, Driessen also played some in left field in 1976. The South Carolina native made the most of his 54 hits last year, knocking in 44 runs. He had seven home runs for the third consecutive year.

Rawly Eastwick

No. 49. Pitcher. Born 10-24-50, Camden, N.J. Resides Cincinnati. Bats Right. Throws Right. Ht. 6-3. Wt. 180. Single. Acquired as No. 3 draft choice, regular phase, June, 1969. Full Name Rawlins Jackson Eastwick III.

Righthanded relief specialist Rawly Eastwick wasn't satisfied with half the loaf in 1975, he wanted all of it in 1976. And that's what he got. Eastwick tied for the most saves in the National League in '75 with Al Hrabosky, but no one could match his impressive record in the Bicentennial Year. Rawly posted 26 saves as he was Manager Sparky Anderson's most frequently called on pitcher, appearing in 71 games. "I am better this year than I was last year," Eastwick said late in the season. "I've learned to concentrate more. I tend to bear down more in certain situations than I did my first year," Eastwick's sensational year, which also saw him win 11 games and post an excellent earned run average of 2.08 earned him Sporting News N.L. Fireman of the Year honors plus major league baseball's Relief Man of the Year award in the National League. "I started the year really believing I could win the relief pitching award," Eastwick noted. "I locked it inside me. It was an overwhelming desire, something I really wanted. The energy from that desire manifested itself physically and good things came about." Eastwick ended the regular season in a blaze of glory. In his last 35 appearances covering 49 innings, Eastwick gave up only seven earned runs. During that span he was 6-2 with 17 saves and a 1.29 ERA. A great deal of Eastwick's success came from his keeping the ball in the park. He gave up only three home runs all season in 107.2 innings. Eastwick overcame a slow start for his banner year. He gave up 11 earned runs in his first 16 appearances, but yielded only 14 in his final 55 games. United Press International selected Eastwick as its relief pitcher on the post-season N.L. all-star team.

Doug Flynn

No. 23. Infielder. Born 4-18-51, Lexington, Ky. Resides Lexington, Ky. Bats Right. Throws Right. Ht. 5-11. Wt. 160. Single. Acquired as free agent. Full Name Robert Douglas Flynn.

A key part of Cincinnati's Big Red Machine the past two seasons has been young infielder Doug Flynn. While generally a utility player at second, short and third, Flynn has made major contributions to keep the Reds winning. He had his best professional season in 1976 when he batted .283 in 93 games. When Joe Morgan was injured in June, Flynn filled the gap like a veteran and in a 15-game span batted .418 (23 for 55) while hitting .347 for the entire month. "The thing about Doug," said Reds' captain Pete Rose, "is that when he plays second, he looks like a second baseman; at short, he looks like a shortstop; at third, he looks like a third baseman. You can't say that about many utility infielders." Flynn signed with the Reds in 1971 after being passed up in the free agent draft. He is a Lexington, Ky., native and played basketball at the University of Kentucky before attending Somerset Community College, where he was playing softball and amateur baseball when the Reds signed him.

Twice George was named the National League's Player of the Month, winning those honors in May and July. He knocked in 31 runs, batted .360 and hit seven homers in May while he hit .315, hit six homers and knocked in 28 runs in July. He became only the fourth player ever to win Player of the Month award twice in the same year, joining Willie Mays, Willie Stargell and teammate Joe Morgan, who did it in 1975. George had the second longest hitting streak on the club, 18 games. For a while in July it looked like Foster might become the first player since Joe Medwick to win the triple crown, but those visions did not materialize. "I knew I had to win the triple crown to win the MVP," Foster, who finished second in the voting to Morgan, said. "I started swinging for home runs, pulling everything. That's

Players of the Year

When George Foster was voted the National League Player of the Year by The Sporting News, he became the fifth Cincinnati player to receive those honors. Joe Morgan was Player of the Year in 1975, Johnny Bench in 1970, Pete Rose in 1968 and Frank Robinson in 1961.

not me." And the result was that Foster's batting average fell from .332 to its season ending .306. "I'll learn from this for the future," Foster added. Foster knocked in runs in bunches. He had one string of eight consecutive games with at least one RBI in each game and the result was 19 runs batted in for eight games. In back-to-back games May 23 at San Diego and May 25 vs. Atlanta Foster knocked five runs in each game. Four times he had four hits in a game. Foster had two home runs in the Championship Series, including a ninth inning shot in Game 3 that started a three-run winning rally. He hit .429 in the World Series and knocked in four runs. George had his best year by far on the base paths in '76. He swiped 17 bases, 10 more than his previous high.

Woodie Fryman

No. 35. Pitcher. Born 4-12-40, Ewing, Ky. Resides Ewing. Bats Right. Throws Left. Ht. 6-2. Wt. 205. Married Phyllis Ann Delaney 6-18-61. Children Jeffrey and Jerome. Acquired from Montreal Expos along with Dale Murray for Tony Perez and Will McEnaney 12-16-76. Full Name Woodrow Thompson Fryman.

When the Cincinnati Reds acquired veteran Woodie Fryman from the Montreal Expos in mid-December, they obtained a veteran left-hander who "knows how to pitch." Those were the words of Reds' President Bob Howsam when the deal was completed. "We needed another lefthanded starter," Howsam said. "And in Woodie, we have a fine pitcher who knows how to pitch. He should be a real asset to our organization." Fryman has learned how to pitch from his 12 seasons in the major leagues. He has spent time with the Pittsburgh Pirates, Philadelphia Phils, Detroit Tigers and Expos. The only time he was with a championship club, he became an instant success. That was in 1972 at Detroit. Coming over from Philadelphia, Fryman made 14 starts for Detroit, was 10-3 and gave that club the impetus to reach the American League Championship Series. Fryman has an interesting background. He was born, raised and still lives in Ewing, Ky., a small town about two hours southeast of Cincinnati in Flemming County. He did not sign a professional contract until he was 25, preferring to work on the family tobacco farm. He had many opportunities to sign earlier — including a chance with the Reds in 1960 after working out at Crosley Field — but by-passed them until the Pirates landed him in 1965 after he pitched a 12-inning perfect game in a semi-pro league, striking out 32 of the 36 batters he faced. Fryman pitched only 12 games in the minor leagues — six in Class A and six more in Class AAA — and came to the majors for good in 1966 with Pittsburgh. He was a strong contender for Rookie of the Year honors that first season, posting a 12-9 record for the Pirates. That was also the season for his most memorable major league game. It came on July 1 against the Mets. Leadoff hitter Ron Hunt singled, and then Woodie retired the next 27 batters to finish with a one-hitter, one of three he has pitched in the major leagues. His 13 victories in 1976 was a personal N.L. high for him. In 1972 he won 14 games (10 with the Tigers and four at Philadelphia). Woodie recorded his 100th major league victory during the 1976 campaign, beating Pittsburgh on June 27. He is one of the best fielding pitchers in baseball. He has not made an error since 1973 with Detroit and the past two seasons at Montreal handled all 71 chances he had perfectly. He was involved in four 1-0 games last year, winning two and losing one. In his 13 losses, the Expos scored just 21 runs. His best stretch was between May 2 and May 24 when he was 4-0. He was named to the All-Star team for the second time, also earning those honors in 1968. He was feted in December by the Montreal Baseball Writers Association as that club's Player of the Year in 1976.

Cesar Geronimo

No. 20. Outfielder. Born 3-11-48, El Seibo, Dominican Republic. Resides El Seibo, Dominican Republic. Bats Left. Throws Left. Ht. 6-2. Wt. 170. Married Elizabeth Hanley 2-12-71. Child Cesar Jr. Acquired from Houston with Joe Morgan, Denis Menke, Jack Billingham and Ed Armbrister for Lee May, Tommy Helms and Jimmy Stewart, 11-29-71. Full Name Cesar Francisco Geronimo.

Since becoming the Reds' regular centerfielder four years ago, Cesar Geronimo has earned respect as one of the best outfielders in baseball. And now after his best season at the plate he has developed into a solid hitter as well. Geronimo's defensive exploits are well known. He won his third straight Gold Glove last year, voted by other players in the league as one of the three best defensive outfielders. His rifle arm is one of the most respected and his long strides in the outfield enable him to track down long drives in the gaps. And now he's a .300 hitter to go along with his defensive prowess. The Chief batted .307 as he was one of five .300 Cincinnati hitters. Geronimo finished with a flurry to reach .300 for the first time in his professional career that started in the New York Yankee organization in 1967. Geronimo batted .325 the final month of the season as he raised his career mark to a very respectable .271. Poor finishes the last two years kept Geronimo from big years and this time he was determined to finish strong. "This year," Geronimo said in late September, "I am doing anything I can to keep my strength. I often skip batting practice and this helps me stay strong. I got real tired the last two years and this year I wasn't." Geronimo hit .280 the first two months of the season and then the remainder of the way was a .325 batter. When his average hit .315 in mid-September, he jumped among the top 10 hitters in the league. The Reds' appearance in the World Series at Yankee Stadium made it a dream come true for the native of the Dominican Republic. "I always dreamed of playing for the Yankees. My hero was Mickey Mantle and I wanted to play in Yankee Stadium. When I first walked into Yankee Stadium this week," Cesar said at the Series, "I thought of Mantle, Ruth and Gehrig. It's my first time here and I like it. But I also thought that at this very moment I would not want to change uniforms."

Grace was an outstanding high school athlete in his native Pontiac, Mich., being named Michigan's All-Prep Athlete of the Year in 1974 and he was named the Most Valuable Player in the Michigan State American Legion baseball tournament in 1973.

Ken Griffey

No. 30. Outfielder. Born 4-10-50, Donora, Pa. Resides Cincinnati, Ohio. Bats Left. Throws Left. Ht. 5-11. Wt. 200. Married Alberta Littleton 9-4-69. Children George and Craig. Acquired No. 29 draft choice. Regular Phase, June, 1969. Full Name George Kenneth Griffey.

Rightfielder Ken Griffey came within a whisker of winning the National League batting title in 1976. Griffey entered the final day of the season with a four point lead over Chicago's Bill Madlock, but when the dust had settled and the regular season was concluded, Madlock had finished with a flurry to win his second straight title. Madlock finished at .339 to Griffey's .336. Madlock went four-for-four while Griffey, who didn't start but played late in the Reds' finale, went 0-for-2 as he attempted to overtake Madlock. "I didn't lose it," Griffey noted. "Madlock won it." While the season ended on that "down" note for the native of Donora, Pa., it was definitely an "up" season for Griffey. Besides finishing second in the batting race, he was fourth in the league in runs scored (111) and tied Dave Cash for fifth in hits

He batted safely in 107 of the 129 games he started and only once did he go three consecutive games without a base hit. He had 41 two-hit games, 19 three-hit contests and one four-hit game. He is one of the fastest players in baseball and legged out 37 infield hits in 1976, giving him a total of 75 over the past two seasons. He started the season hitting safely in 14 straight games and also had another 14-game streak later in the season. He connected for his first career grand slam, hitting a bases-loaded home run against the Cubs on May 9. He also blasted another big homer, a two-out shot again at Wrigley Field on Aug. 11, capping a Reds' comeback that saw the Reds come from a 10-1 deficit to win.

Joe Henderson

No. 53. Pitcher. Born 7-4-46, Lake Cormorant, Miss. Resides Fresno, Calif. Bats Left. Throws Right. Ht. 6-2. Wt. 185. Married Patricia Garvin 9-18-65. Children Latrez, Monique, Crystal, Joe Jr. Purchased from Iowa, 1-2-75. Full Name Joseph Lee Henderson.

Joe Henderson became the second Cincinnati organization pitcher in two years to win the American Association earned run championship. Following on the heels of Pat Zachry, the 1975 titlist, Henderson was this year's champ, posting a mark of 2.31. He appeared in 54 games — all but one in relief — and gave up only 28 earned runs in 109 innings. And then a week after that season was concluded, Henderson was called to the Reds and won his only two decisions as he worked in four games in relief. Henderson had previous major league experience with the Chicago White Sox, from whom the righthander was acquired last winter.

Reds First With Band Festival

The Reds were the first team to host a marching band festival as one of the club's special dates. And the third annual show will be staged on Sunday, May 15.

Six high school bands compete for the top prize in the colorful pageant. Competing bands are selected by the Reds who scour Ohio, Indiana, Kentucky and other states in Reds Country seeking top notch bands to participate.

The bands are judged by college band directors and they are judged on showmanship, musical and marching ability. Lawrenceburg (Ind.) High School won the first Marching Band Festival in 1975 while Anderson (Ind.) High School won last year.

Reds Average Best Since 1930

The Cincinnati Reds were baseball's best hitting team in 1976, compiling a team batting average of .280. It was Cincinnati's highest team batting average since 1930 when that team hit .281.

It was the eighth time since 1900 the Reds have led the National League in hitting.

Contributing heavily to the big average were five .300-plus hitters. Ken Griffey led the way with a .336 mark. He was followed by Pete Rose (.323), Joe Morgan (.320), Cesar Geronimo (.307) and George Foster (.308). Bob Bailey (.298) and Ed Armbrister (.295) nearly made it to .300.

Joe Morgan

No. 8. Second Baseman. Born 9-19-43, Bonham, Tex. Resides Oakland, Calif. Bats Left. Throws Right. Ht. 5-7. Wt. 165. Married Gloria Stewart, 4-2-67. Children Lisa and Angela. Acquired from Houston with Denis Menke, Jack Billingham, Cesar Geronimo and Ed Armbrister for Lee May, Tommy Helms and Jimmy Stewart, 11-29-71. Full Name Joe Leonard Morgan.

Joe Morgan became only the second player in National League history last year to win the Most Valuable Player Award two consecutive seasons. Again in 1976 Morgan was an overwhelming choice for the prestigious award given by the Baseball Writers Association of America. He polled 19 of the 24 first place votes to join Ernie Banks as the National League's only back-to-back winners. "I thought George Foster would win it," Morgan said after he was named the winner. (Foster was runnerup). "But I had a big year and I knew I had a good chance." Since coming to the Reds before the 1972 season, Morgan has turned his career around becoming one of the most dynamic players in the game. He became only the fifth second baseman in National League history and the first since Jackie Robinson to knock in more than 100 runs when he drove in 111 in 1976. He established a career high with 27 home runs and batted a solid .320. Morgan's five-year batting average with Cincinnati is .303, while he has averaged 22 home runs, 85 RBI, 118 walks and 62 stolen bases in those five campaigns. Morgan credits Ted Kluszewski for much of his success. "It's a matter of study," Joe said. "Learning the batting principles of our batting coach has made a great difference. I've worked hours with that man in the cage beneath Riverfront Stadium. He didn't tell me anything I didn't know before. But he made me conscious of his theory: Get the head of the bat out front with good bat speed." Morgan had the Reds' longest hitting streak, 19 games, and came within a whisker of tying Mel Ott's NL record for knocking in a run in 11 consecutive games. Joe had a streak of 10 June 2 through June 13. Morgan led the National League in most sacrifice flies, 12, and slugging percentage, .576, while he grounded into the fewest double plays of any player with at least 500 plate

Dale Murray

No. 37. Pitcher. Born 2-2-50, Cuero, Tx. Resides Cuero. Bats Right. Throws Right. Ht. 6-4. Wt. 205. Married Rebecca Osterloh 1-13-68. Acquired from Montreal Expos with Woodie Fryman for Tony Perez and Will McEnaney 12-16-76. Full name Dale Albert Murray.

When the Cincinnati Reds acquired the contract of righthander Dale Murray in Mid-December from the Montreal Expos, they obtained one of the top relief pitchers in the National League. Murray was called on 81 times last year in relief — most appearances of any pitcher in the NL. Despite the fact he could only register four victories, he was a standout hurler. He pitched in 30 of Montreal's 55 victories, missing action in only five victories a reliever appeared in since 20 other wins were complete games. Between June 20 and July 7 he pitched 11 games in which he allowed only one earned run over 16.1

innings, and earning four saves. From July 18 until the end of the season he was 4-1 with four more saves. His total of 13 saves was eighth best in the National League. He had a sensational year in 1975, posting 15 victories with the Expos despite missing more than a month of action. The 26-year-old native of Cuero, Texas, where he still lives, was sidelined with hepatitis from May 12 to June 16 that season, but still appeared in 63 games to lead the Expos pitching staff in victories. Murray came to the majors midway through the 1974 season and had instant success. He appeared in 32 games that season, logging an earned run average of 1.03 and finished that year with a string of 27.1 scoreless innings. Murray's start up the professional baseball ladder was delayed by injury. He broke the femur bone near his right hip during spring practice at Blinn Junior College in Brenham, Texas, knocking him out of action that year. He had been impressive enough before, however, to warrant selection by the Expos in the 1970 free agent draft. He was picked in the 18th round.

Murray Homerless Streak 247.1

Dale Murray compiled one of the most remarkable pitching performances in recent times over a three-year period from 1974-76. The righthanded relief specialist pitched 247.1 consecutive innings without allowing a home run. That streak, which began in 1974, was finally snapped last Aug. 20 in San Francisco when Bobby Murcer tagged him for only the second home run he allowed in pro ball. The other was to Bob Watson in 1974.

It is the longest homerless string in the post World War II era. Records are sketchy of innings by pitchers without allowing home runs, although the record book lists two marks for fewest home runs allowed in a season.

The NL record is held by none other than Eppa Rixey, the Cincinnati Hall of Famer who gave up only one home run in 301 innings in 1921. The AL mark is held by Allen Sothoron who pitched 178 innings in 1921 without allowing a homer. Both records were established before the home run came into prominence.

Gary Nolan

No. 38. Pitcher. Born 5-27-48, Herlong, Calif. Resides Cincinnati. Bats Right. Throws Right. Ht. 6-3. Wt. 200. Married Carol Widener 2-26-65. Children Gary Jr., Timothy John, Kathy Lynn and Mark Anthony. Acquired as No. 1 draft choice, regular phase, June, 1966. Full Name Gary Lynn Nolan.

Veteran righthander Gary Nolan reached a couple of personal milestones during the 1976 season as he posted 15 victories for the second consecutive season. First, Gary became only the 13th player in Reds' history to win 100 games when he beat the Atlanta Braves, 7-6, on July 25 in Atlanta. And secondly, Gary notched his 1,000th career strikeout when he fanned the Dodgers' Al Downing on Sept. 25. Again in 1976 Nolan was the top control pitcher in the National League. He walked only 27 batters in 239 innings and three of those were intentional. Considering that Nolan missed most of the 1973-74 seasons because of a shoulder problem, his control record is sensa-

Nolan Top Control Artist

Gary Nolan was the top control pitcher in the National League for the second straight year, walking only 27 batters in 239 innings, or one walk every 8.8 innings. Closest to him among pitchers who worked in at least 200 innings was Jim Kaat of Philadelphia who walked 32 batters in 228 innings for an average of 7.1. Following is a list of pitchers (200 or more innings) with the best walk ratio:

Pitcher	Innings	Walks	Ratio
NOLAN, CINCINNATI	239	27	8.8
Kaat, Philadelphia	228	32	7.1
Jones, San Diego	315	50	6.3

Candelaria, Pittsburgh	220	60	3.7

tional. During the month of June, for instance, Nolan worked 45.1 innings and walked only one batter. And that was intentional. While Nolan's ERA was 3.46, his lifetime mark remained under 3.00 at 2.97 and his won-lost record did not reflect much of his fine pitching. Four times he allowed two runs or less in a game and didn't get a decision. On two other occasions he allowed two runs and was the loser. Twice he left a game without allowing any runs and didn't get a decision. Nolan won 10 of his first 15 decisions before losing three straight on a long August road trip. The Reds scored just four runs in those three games. He had a four-game winning streak in June during which he pitched three straight complete games for the first time in his career. Nolan made one start in both the Championship Series and World Series. He worked seven innings in Game 4 of the World Series and clinched the Reds' second straight world title.

Outfielder Dan Norman teamed with Steve Henderson to give Three Rivers one of the hardest hitting outfield twosomes in all of the minor leagues in 1976. Norman tied Henderson with a club record 17 home runs and the Barstow, Calif., native also rapped 20 doubles and nine triples. A speed merchant, Norman swiped 33 bases and for the second straight year batted .273.

Fred Norman

No. 32. Pitcher. Born 8-20-42, San Antonio, Tex. Resides Cincinnati. Bats Both. Throws Left. Ht. 5-8. Wt. 170. Single. Acquired from San Diego for Gene Locklear, Mike Johnson and cash, 6-12-73. Full Name Fred Hubert Norman.

Fred Norman enjoyed his best overall season in the major leagues in 1976 when he stepped into the starting rotation and proved to be an effective stopper. Norman won 12 games against 7 losses and raised his lifetime winning record over the .500 mark for the first time. He also posted his lowest earned run average, 3.10, and for a time challenged for the league ERA title. After the little southpaw beat the Dodgers, 3-2, on Aug. 5, Norman's mark stood at 2.25, best in the National League. "Fred Norman is the best pitcher I've ever faced," Dodgers' outfielder Reggie Smith said, after he struck out three times in that contest. "I feel that finally, after pitching in the big leagues for almost a dozen years, I've learned to be consistent. With a good club behind you, you should be consistent. You know, sooner or later, they'll get you runs — maybe in the first inning, maybe in the ninth — but they'll get 'em. It's up to me to hold the other club until the runs arrive. No longer do I have the attitude of going out and doing the best I can, that's not good enough. I want to be the best — period."

Reds Among Top Fielders

A total of 26 pitchers in the National League in 1976 who worked in at least 30 games had a perfect 1.000 fielding average. Four Cincinnati hurlers — Fred Norman, Gary Nolan, Rawly Eastwick and Pedro Borbon — were among the 26.

The NL leader was San Diego's Randy Jones who had 112 chances.

Nolan was perfect in 31 chances while Norman had no errors in 18 chances. Borbon made no errors in 24 chances while Eastwick was perfect in all 12 of his chances.

For two months — from June 13 through Aug. 5 — Norman was the best pitcher in the National League. In 12 appearances he was 8-1 with an ERA of 1.18, allowing only 11 earned runs in 84 innings. Seven of the 10 starts in that streak were complete games.

Bill Plummer

No. 9. Catcher. Born 3-21-47, Oakland, Calif. Resides Anderson, Calif. Bats Right. Throws Right. Ht. 6-1. Wt. 210. Married Robin Rickert, 6-2-65. Children Gina Lee and Tricia. Acquired from Chicago Cubs with Clarence Jones and Ken Myette for Ted Abernathy, 1-9-69. Full Name William Francis Plummer.

The player who knocked in more runs in one game last year than any other member of the Big Red Machine was Bill Plummer. The veteran Reds' catcher had his big day at the expense of the St. Louis Cardinals on June 5 when the Reds beat St. Louis, 13-2. He went to the plate five times at Busch Stadium and came away with seven runs batted in. He singled in a run in his first time up, cleared the bases with a three-run triple in the third and topped off his fantastic day with a three-run homer in the sixth. "It was a dream day for an extra man," Plummer said. "Now I've got two games to tell my kids about some day," Bill quipped, referring to a game in 1974 when he hit two home runs off Steve Carlton. When regular catcher Johnny Bench was hobbled by injuries during the first two and one-half months of the season, Plummer filled in quite well, batting .305 over a two month stretch that saw him get 18 hits in 59 times at bat.

Dave Revering

No. 12. Infielder. Born 2-12-53, Roseville, Calif. Resides Sacramento, Calif. Bats Left. Throws Right. Ht. 6-4. Wt. 205. Single. Acquired as No. 7 draft choice, regular phase, June 1971. Full Name David Alvin Revering.

Tall, lefthanded hitting Dave Revering has been one of the top sluggers in the minor leagues the past two seasons. Add a .290 batting average to his 27 home runs in 1976 and it all adds up to Revering's finest professional season. Now a six-year veteran in the Cincinnati farm system, Revering finished second in the home run and RBI races in the American Association last season. He raised his batting average 36 points and his 77 RBI were a career high. He was the Reds' No. 7 draft choice in 1971 out of Bella Vista High School in Fair Oaks, Calif.

Pete Rose

No. 14. Infielder. Born 4-14-41. Cincinnati. Resides Cincinnati. Bats Both. Throws Right. Ht. 5-11. Wt. 200. Married Carolyn Englehardt, 1-25-64. Children Fawn Renee and Peter Edward, II. Acquired through Cincinnati farm system. Full Name Peter Edward Rose.

Pete Rose will become the greatest switch-hitter in baseball history during the 1977 season, barring injury. Rose needs 119 hits to pass Frank Frisch on the all-time hit list and if Rose's past record holds to form, he will do that with ease. Entering the 1977 season, Rose stands 28th on the all-time list with 2,762 hits. Frisch collected 2,880 hits in his career. "I've worked awfully hard at switch-hitting and to be No. 1 at it, well — that's something," Rose said. For the eighth time in his career last season Rose had at least 200 hits, collecting 215 to lead the National League. The only player ever to have more 200-hit seasons was Ty Cobb who had nine. He became the first player in major league history to lead the league in runs scored and doubles three consecutive years as he crossed the plate 130 times and collected 42 two base hits in 1976. Pete's season mark of .323, fourth highest in the National League, raised his career mark to .311 and it marked the 11th time in the last 12 seasons he has posted a .300-plus batting average. Rose got off to the best start of his career, batting .466 in April with 34 hits. He had three or more hits in a game 19 times and had a five-hit game vs. Houston on July 2. Named a starter in the All-Star game, Pete joined Stan Musial and Hank Aaron as the only players in history to start the All-Star game at four different positions. Again in 1976 Rose played in all of the Reds' games, 162. It extended his consecutive game string to 490, most among active players in the major leagues. If he plays in the first 10 in 1977, he will become the fourth Cincinnati player to play in at least 500 consecutive games. While Pete is trying to become the next player to reach the 3,000 hit club (he's pointing to do it early in 1978 if all goes well), Rose has his sights set further ahead than that. "The National League hit record is less than a thousand away," Pete explained. "I would like to set that record." Stan Musial holds it, collecting 3,630 career hits. Pete had his best home run year — hitting 10 — since 1971 and is within one of tying Rip Collins' National League record of 135 for most home runs by a switch-hitter.

Manny Sarmiento

No. 45. Pitcher. Born 2-2-56, Cagua, Aragua, Venezuela. Resides Cagua, Aragua. Bats Right. Throws Right. Ht. 5-11. Wt. 155. Married. Acquired as free agent. Full Name Manuel Sarmiento.

Relief specialist Manny Sarmiento certainly didn't waste any time in gaining his first major league victory in 1976. He had been a member of the Reds for less than 12 hours when he registered win No. 1 in relief July 30 against San Diego. From there, Manny went on to post a 5-1 record to give him overall 16 victories during the 1976 season, 11 of them coming at Indianapolis where he was 11-5 when called up. One of the youngest players in the major leagues last year at the age of 20, the Reds began following Sarmiento in his native Venezuela when he was only 15. Shortstop Dave Concepcion first spotted him. "He was just 15 and he had a good fast ball and a sinker," Concepcion recalled. A year later the Reds signed Manny and he spent four and one-half years in the Reds' farm system. Sarmiento remembers the moment that his dream of playing in the major leagues was born. "I was watching television in a seminary school in Venezuela," Sarmiento explained. "It was 1970 and the Reds were playing the Baltimore Orioles. My favorite player was Gary Nolan and I remember Dave Concepcion was 3-for-9." Playing with six different teams in the Cincinnati organization, Sarmiento has an earned run average of less than 3.00 everywhere he has played.

Righthanded pitcher Mario Soto was one of the major reasons the Tampa Tarpons, Cincinnati's Class A affiliate, won the Northern Division of the Florida State League in 1976. Soto posted a 13-7 record and 1.87 earned run average to lead Manager Ron Brand's club to the FSL playoffs. Soto was elevated to the major league roster as a result of his fine showing. A native of the Dominican Republic, Soto signed with the Reds in December of 1973, but did not play for a Cincinnati farm team until 1975 because of a broken right elbow.

Joel Youngblood

No. 19. Outfielder. Born 8-28-51. Houston, Tex. Resides Houston, Tex. Bats Right. Throws Right. Ht. 5-11. Wt. 175. Married Chantal Marchand, 2-2-74. Acquired as No. 2 draft choice, regular phase, January, 1970. Full Name Joel Randolph Youngblood III.

Joel Youngblood's first starting assignment in the major leagues was a dream come true for any big leaguer. Joel's big day came April 26 against Philadelphia's Jim Kaat and Reds' Manager Sparky Anderson had penciled Youngblood's name in the right field spot and seventh position in the batting order. Facing the Phillies' veteran and his unusual hurry up pitching routine for the first time, Joel came through with four hits in five times at bat to get his career off to a fast start. Like most rookies, Youngblood spent a good part of the season on the bench, watching and learning. One playing experience will always be in Joel's mind. That came on April 25 when the Reds were playing at Montreal. Johnny Bench was out of the game and Bill Plummer was ejected. That left the Reds out of catchers. Youngblood volunteered, even though he had never caught an inning previously as a professional, and caught the ninth inning creditably. Youngblood was used often as a pinch-hitter, and appropriately enough his first major league hit came in a pinch-hitting role against Atlanta April 15.

all year, finishing fifth with a 2.74 mark. Zack earned the reputation as a "Dodger killer" during the 1976 season. He beat them the first five times he faced them, allowing only six earned runs in 41 innings. Pat didn't gain his first major league victory until he beat the Cubs May 9, but then he went on a tear, winning four consecutive games. One reason for his effectiveness was not allowing many home runs. He gave up a roundtripper to Bill Madlock in that May 9 victory, but then wasn't touched for another in his next 11 starts. He gave up only eight in 204 innings. "There's one game I'll never forget," Zachry said. "It was my first start against Los Angeles (May 17). I had just finished pitching the second inning and boy did I ever get chewed out by Sparky. He told me that I was just as good as any other pitcher and that I should go out there and prove it. I guess I did." Zachry won that game, 5-3, and off he went. Pat gained his first major league shutout two starts later against the Dodgers, 9-0, at Riverfront Stadium on May 28. He gave up two runs or less in 19 of his 28 starts. When Zachry defeated the Braves, 5-1, Sept. 4 in Atlanta, he gave up only two hits in the game, lowest total in a complete game by a Cincinnati pitcher in 1976. Pat's 14 victories were the most by a Reds' rookie since Wayne Simpson won 14 in 1970.

1976 Championship Series

The Philadelphia Phillies held a 7-5 advantage over the Reds in 1976 regular season play, but it was a different story in the National League Championship Series. The Reds broke out on top early and went on to sweep the Phils to capture the N.L. pennant for the fourth time this decade.

The Reds won the opener 6-3, took the second game 6-2 and then clinched in a heart-stopping 7-6 thriller in Game 3, highlighted by a three-run comeback in the bottom of the ninth inning.

Cincinnati set the tone of the Championship Series in the very first inning of Game 1 when Pete Rose stretched a long single into a head-first sliding double. Cincinnati pounded loser Steve Carlton and his successor Tug McGraw for eight extra base hits, including a home run by George Foster that gave the Reds the lead for good in the sixth inning.

Rose, who now has a .378 lifetime Championship Series average in 19 games, had three hits in the opener. He scored the first run in the third inning after tripling and then finished off Cincinnati's run count in the eighth when he doubled in a run as the Reds scored three times to salt the victory away.

Cincinnati was held hitless until the sixth inning of Game 2, but then exploded for four runs to overtake the Phillies 2-0 advantage. Rose got the Reds' first hit with one out in the sixth. But the big play of the inning was not a base hit, but a three-run error on Tony Perez's line drive off Dick Allen's glove.

Pat Zachry, making his first Championship Series appearance, went five innings for the victory while Pedro Borbon finished up with four shutout innings. With a 2-0 lead, the Series shifted to Cincinnati for what would be one of the most exciting games in Championship Series history.

The Reds were shut out by Jim Kaat through the first six innings while the Phillies had built a 3-0 lead going into the bottom of the seventh.

But in the bottom of the seventh the Big Red Machine struck for four runs to charge ahead. In the eighth, however, the Phils came right back with two runs and then in the ninth they added another to lead 6-4.

George Foster got the Reds a run back leading off the bottom of the ninth hitting a 450-foot home run off Ron Reed. Johnny Bench came to the plate and repeated the act. He hit a long smash over the left center field fence tying the score.

Dave Concepcion singled and Cesar Geronimo walked. That brought up pinch-hitter Ed Armbrister who successfully sacrificed both runners into scoring position. Rose was walked intentionally, bringing Ken Griffey to the plate.

He hit a high topper toward first base. Bobby Tolan couldn't pick it up on the short hop and Concepcion slid safely across the plate giving the Reds the pennant.

Championship Series History

In the eight years of Championship Series play in the National League, the Cincinnati Reds have played in five of them, including both 1975 and 1976 when they swept the LCS and went on to win the World Series.

1970

The Reds made their first appearance in the Championship Series in 1970 — the second year of the post-season competition — and swept three straight games from the Pittsburgh Pirates.

In the opener that year Gary Nolan and Dock Ellis each pitched nine scoreless innings before the Reds broke loose for three in the 10th. Pete Rose singled home pinch-hitter Ty Cline, who had led off with a triple, getting the Reds on the scoreboard and Lee May followed with a two-run insurance single.

The Reds won the second game 3-1 as Bobby Tolan scored three times. Jim Merritt recorded the victory. And in the final that year the Reds beat the Pirates 3-2 as Tolan singled home Rose with the winning run in the eighth inning.

1972

This Series is one of those unforgettable ones. It was the Series of Johnny Bench's dramatic home run; of Roberto Clemente's last game; of Bob Moose's wild pitch.

Pittsburgh won the opener 5-1, but the Reds came back to even things up with a 5-3 triumph in Game 2. The Pirates took a 2-1 advantage after the third game as they scored a 3-2 decision. But in Game 4 Ross Grimsley pitched a two-hitter — both hits were by Clemente — as the Reds stormed to a 7-1 triumph. Then came the big fifth game.

The Pirates led 3-2 going to the bottom of the ninth inning. Bench, who was facing Dave Giusti, fouled off several pitches before drilling a game-tying home run over the right center field fence. Then with two outs, George Foster was on third base when Moose uncorked a wild pitch. Foster came home and the Reds won the pennant with a 4-3 victory.

1973

This Series went five games, too, and it was the first and only one the Reds have lost.

The 1973 Series will long be remembered for the Game 3 incident involving Rose and Bud Harrelson who started a brawl that brought both benches on to the field and a barrage of debris from the Shea Stadium stands.

The Reds won the Series opener, 2-1, as Bench hit a ninth inning home run. The next day it was 5-0 Mets. The Mets beat the Reds 9-2 in Game 3, which was held up about 20 minutes while order was being restored.

Rose was the Reds' hero in Game 4. He hit a 12th inning game-winning home run to tie the score. But in Game 5 Tom Seaver was the winner, 7-2, as the Mets snapped a 2-2 tie in the fifth with a four-run outburst.

1975

Stealing 11 bases in 11 attempts, the Reds won the National League pennant with three straight victories over the Pittsburgh Pirates.

Joe Morgan stole three bases sparking an 8-3 opening game win while Ken Griffey stole three more in a 6-1 triumph in Game 2. Griffey was a big hitter in Game 1, knocking in three runs while Tony Perez and Dave Concepcion sparked the offense in Game 2 with three hits each.

The Reds overcame a 14-strikeout performance by John Candelaria to win Game 3. Concepcion and Rose hit home runs as the Reds won the game 5-3 in 10 innings.

1976 World Series

The Cincinnati Reds became the first National League team in more than 50 years in 1976 to capture back to back world championships.

Not since John McGraw's New York Giants of 1921-22 won the world title had a National League team prior to Manager Sparky Anderson's aggregation accomplished the feat.

No National League team has ever won three straight.

The Reds won their second straight World Series, sweeping the New York Yankees in four straight games, outscoring the Bronx Bombers 22-8. The Reds dominated New York much the same way the old Yankees dominated their Series opponents.

Johnny Bench was Cincinnati's World Series hero. He batted .533 (8 for 15), the fourth highest mark ever posted in World Series play. Babe Ruth batted .625 in 1928 while Hank Gowdy hit .545 in 1914 and Lou Gehrig batted .545 in 1928.

Selected the Most Valuable Player in the Series, Bench hit a pair of home runs and knocked in five runs in the finale that clinched Cincinnati's sweep. His first home run in Game 4 came in the fourth inning and put the Reds in front. Then a three-run shot in the ninth iced the decision.

Bench had plenty of help from his Cincy teammates in the World Series. The team batted .313 and only one game was close, a 4-3 victory in Game 2, decided by Tony Perez's two-out single in the ninth inning.

Strong Cincinnati pitching was a keynote. The Reds posted a 2.00 ERA in the World Series.

In the opener Perez led the way. He collected three hits and knocked in a run as the Reds scored a 5-1 triumph.

Game 2 was the first Sunday night World Series game ever. Perez's second hit of the game off Catfish Hunter won it for the Reds. Ken Griffey scored the winning run after reaching base because of Fred Stanley's throwing error.

Dan Driessen played a big role in Game 3. He went three-for-three with a home run and a double as the Reds scored a 6-2 victory. Pat Zachry won his first World Series outing and George Foster also knocked in two runs with a pair of hits.

Gary Nolan won Game 4, his first World Series victory in seven career appearances. The Reds won the game, 7-2, with Bench knocking in five of the runs.

World Series History

After winning their second consecutive World Series in 1976, the Cincinnati Reds have won four of the eight Series they have played in. Cincinnati has been a participant in the October classic eight times — 1919, 1939, 1940, 1961, 1970, 1972, 1975 and 1976. Following is a capsulized history of the Reds in the World Series:

1919

Cincinnati's first appearance in a World Series was a successful one. The Reds beat the Chicago White Sox five games to three in what was then a nine game World Series.

Earle "Greasy" Neale, who would later gain fame in college and professional football, was the star of the Series for Cincinnati. He batted .357 to spark all hitters. On the mound Hod Eller won a pair of games.

The White Sox held the NL batting champion, Edd Roush, to a .214 average but he was sensational on defense, saving nearly a dozen runs in the eight games with circus catches.

1939

The New York Yankees swept the Reds in four straight games in the '39 World Series. It was a pitching dominated Series as the Yankees hit just .206 while the Reds batted .203. New York out-scored the Reds 20-8 and hit seven home runs to the Reds' none. Charlie Keller was the Yankees' star, batting .438 with three home runs. Frank McCormick hit .400 for Cincinnati.

Red Ruffing beat Paul Derringer, 2-1, in the Opener while Monte Pearson hurled a two-hit shutout as the Yankees won the second game, 4-0. New York won Game 3, 10-5 and then captured the Series with a 7-3 triumph in the fourth game.

1940

This Series went to the wire with the Reds beating the Detroit Tigers, 3-2, in the seventh game to capture the World Series.

Derringer and Bucky Walters each won two games for Cincinnati while Buck Newsom won a pair for Detroit. Newsom beat Derringer, 7-1 to win the opener, but Walters knotted the Series with a 5-3 victory in Game 2. Tommy Bridges beat Jim Turner in Game 3 as the Tigers scored a 7-4 triumph, but Derringer came back from his opening game defeat to even the Series once more, 5-2, breaking a Series jinx for him that started with his first appearance in the 1931 World Series.

Detroit went back on top three games to two in Game 5 as Newsom blanked the Reds, 8-0. Walters saved the Reds from elimination in Game 6, however, as he hurled a shutout, 4-0, setting the stage for the first Game 7 in a World Series in seven years.

The Reds scored two runs in the seventh inning to come from behind and win the game and Series, 2-1. The winning run came home on Billy Meyers' long sacrifice fly.

Billy Werber, Cincinnati's third baseman, led all hitters with a .370 average while 40-year-old coach Jimmy Wilson, activated behind the plate when Ernie Lombardi was injured, hit .353.

1961

The Reds and Yankees met for the second time and New York won this World Series, four games to one. The Yankees won the American League pennant as Roger Maris broke Babe Ruth's home run record with 61 and they didn't let up in the Series. They out-scored the Reds 33-20.

Whitey Ford got New York off and running in the opener with a two-hit, 2-0 victory. But Cincinnati tied the Series the next day as Joey Jay pitched a 6-2 decision.

Game 3 went to New York, 3-2, as Maris hit a game-winning home run in the ninth inning. Ford pitched six more shutout innings in Game 4, a 7-0 Yankee triumph. And then they finished off Cincinnati with a 13-5 victory in Game 5.

1970

Brooks Robinson dominated this World Series for Baltimore, both at the plate and in the field. He batted .429 and time after time thwarted the Reds with diving catches at third base. It was a five-game Series with the Reds winning Game 4.

The Orioles won the opener, 4-3, as Robinson hit a game-winning home run in the seventh inning. It was in this game that the now famous Bernie Carbo—Elrod Hendricks—Ken Burkhart collision took place.

Ty Cline hit a chopper up the third base line. Umpire Burkhart signalled fair as he straddled the base line in front of the plate. Whirling, Hendricks attempted to tag Carbo as he came flying down from third. As Hendricks whirled, he knocked Burkhart to the seat of his pants and he lunged at Carbo. The Reds argued that Hendricks tagged Carbo with his glove, but the ball was in his right hand. The Reds protested but the play stood with Carbo out.

Game 2, without a wild scene, was won 6-5 by the Orioles. In Game 3 Baltimore scored a 9-3 triumph as Dave McNally became the first pitcher ever to hit a grand slam in Series play.

Lee May's three-run homer in the eighth inning of Game 4 saved the Reds from elimination, 6-5, but Mike Cuellar cruised to a 9-3 Series-clinching triumph in Game 5.

1972

This was one of the closest World Series of all time. Six of the seven games were decided by one run.

Gene Tenace hit a pair of home runs in the opener as the Oakland A's beat the Reds, 3-2. Game 2 went to Oakland 2-1 as Joe Rudi made a ninth inning leaping catch to save the game for the A's.

Jack Billingham pitched a three-hit, 1-0 win in Game 3 to get the Reds going, but Oakland won the fourth game with a 3-2 win, scoring twice in the bottom of the ninth.

Game 5 was Cincinnati's from the first pitch, a home run by Pete Rose. In the end the Reds won it, 5-4, as Joe Morgan threw out John Odom at the plate to end the game. The only lopsided game went to Cincinnati in Game 6, 8-1. The A's won the Series the next day, 3-2 as Sal Bando knocked in the winning run.

1975

This series was called by many the most exciting ever. The Reds won it in Game 7 as Morgan knocked in the winning run with a two-out, two-strike single.

World Series History (Continued from Page 81)

Luis Tiant pitched a shutout in the first as Boston took a 1-0 lead. But in Game 2 the Reds scored twice in the ninth and came from behind, 3-2. Game 3 was Cincinnati's, 6-5 in 10 innings, as Morgan delivered the winning hit. Tiant evened the count in Game 4, though, nipping the Reds, 5-4, thanks to a five-run Boston fourth.

Tony Perez hit a pair of home runs in Game 5 as the Reds scored a 6-2 win. Then in Game 6 the Red Sox won the game as Carlton Fisk hit a home run in the bottom of the 12th inning.

That set the stage for Game 7. The Reds trailed 3-0 going to the sixth, but Perez hit a two-run homer. Pete Rose singled home the tying run in the seventh and in the ninth Morgan delivered his game-winner.

Consecutive Game Playing Streaks

Pete Rose starts the 1977 baseball season with the longest playing streak of any active major leaguer. He has played in 490 straight games, last missing a game on Sept. 26, 1973. If he plays in the Reds' first 10 games in '77, he will become the 26th major leaguer ever to play in at least 500 straight games. Three former Reds are in the "500" club. They are Frank McCormick, who holds the club record with 652 straight, Roy McMillan (585) and Vada Pinson (508). Following is a list of all players with at least 500 consecutive games:

Reds Best on Base Paths

The 1976 World Champion Reds had their best season on the base paths since 1914.

For the first time in 62 years, the Reds stole more than 200 bases in a season, pilfering 210 for the season. The 1914 team swiped 224. The club record is 310, set by the 1910 Reds.

It was the second straight year the Reds led the National League in steals and the fourth time in the last five seasons they have topped the NL. And it was the ninth time they had led since 1900.

Reds Most Valuable Players

When the Cincinnati Reds took the field in 1976, they were the first National League team in history to have three Most Valuable Players in the lineup on a regular basis.

Johnny Bench is a two-time winner, capturing honors in 1970 and 1972. Pete Rose won the award in 1973 and Joe Morgan won in 1975 and then again in 1976, becoming only the second NL player ever to win it back to back.

It was not the first time three MVPs were on the same team, but never before had all three been among the regular eight daily.

In fact, the Cincinnati Reds of 1941 were the first NL team to have three MVPs on the same team. Ernie Lombardi, Bucky Walters and Frank McCormick won the award in consecutive years in 1938-39-40. Walters was a pitcher among this trio and was in the lineup only every fourth day.

The other Cincinnati player to capture Most Valuable Player honors was Frank Robinson who sparked the Reds to the National League pennant in 1961.

Following is a capsulized summary of each Cincinnati player's MVP winning season:

ERNIE LOMBARDI (1938) — The Cincinnati catcher won the National League batting title with a mark of .342, becoming only the second backstop in baseball history to win the swat crown. Lombardi played a big role in Cincinnati's climb from eighth place in 1937 to fourth place in 1938. Lombardi collected 229 votes in the balloting, 63 more than runnerup Bill Lee of Chicago.

Reds Most Valuable Players

BUCKY WALTERS (1939) — The righthanded pitcher, who won 27 games against only 11 losses, sparked the Reds to their first pennant in 20 years. Walters also led the league in earned run average at 2.29 and tied for the most strikeouts. He received 303 votes in the balloting while Johnny Mize was runnerup with 178.

FRANK MC CORMICK (1940) — The righthanded hitting first baseman batted .309 and led the league in doubles sparking the Reds to their second straight NL pennant. McCormick also led the league in hits for the third straight year and knocked in 127 runs. He received 274 votes, 65 more than runnerup Johnny Mize.

FRANK ROBINSON (1961) — The Reds' rightfielder sparked Cincinnati to the pennant with his timely hits and consistent power. Robinson batted .323, hit 37 home runs and knocked in 124 runs. He collected 219 votes, 102 more than runnerup Orlando Cepeda.

JOHNNY BENCH (1970) — The Reds' catcher became the youngest MVP ever when he was a landslide winner at the age of 22. Bench led the majors in home runs (45) and runs batted in (148), becoming the first catcher since Roy Campanella in 1955 to win. He received 326 votes, only 10 short of the maximum attainable. Billy Williams was runnerup with 218.

JOHNNY BENCH (1972) — Johnny became the first Cincinnati repeat winner in the MVP balloting as he out-distanced Billy Williams for the second time. Bench hit 40 home runs and knocked in 125 runs. He received 263 votes to Williams' 211.

PETE ROSE (1973) — The Reds' captain won his third batting championship and set a club record with 230 hits as he won his first Most Valuable Player Award. Rose batted .338 sparking Cincinnati to its second straight division championship. Rose received 274 votes, just 24 more than Willie Stargell in one of the tightest MVP races ever.

JOE MORGAN (1975) — The Reds' second baseman, who batted .327, hit 17 home runs and knocked in 94 runs, was a whopping MVP winner. It was the largest winning total in history as Morgan amassed 321½ points to runnerup Greg Luzinski's 154 points.

JOE MORGAN (1976) — Morgan became only the second player in National League history to win the MVP back-to-back. Only Ernie Banks of Chicago, in 1958-59, had accomplished this. Morgan batted .320, hit 27 homers and knocked in 111 runs. He collected 311 votes to teammate George Foster's 221.

History of the Reds

Professional baseball began in Cincinnati 108 years ago, not at Riverfront Stadium, but on a spot where Union Terminal on Cincinnati's near West Side now stands.

Baseball has certainly progressed quite a long way from the days of Harry and George Wright and that first game on May 15, 1869 when the Cincinnati Red Stockings defeated the Antioch Nine of Yellow Springs, Ohio, 41-7.

The history of the Cincinnati Reds is one of the richest of any professional sports team and it is filled with countless firsts, unique happenings and little-known facts that could keep a trivia buff reading for years.

The first Red Stockings team that was organized by Harry Wright, a Newport, Ky., jeweler, was fabulous. During the first two years of play the team went 130 consecutive games without a loss before the Brooklyn Atlantics finally beat the Red Stockings in June of 1870.

In 1876 the National League was founded and the Red Stockings became a charter member, although the club dropped out of the league for 10 years because the league would not permit sale of beer in the park. The Red Stockings joined the American Association for the 1882-83 seasons and also played in the Union Association, but rejoined the National League in 1890.

Among the many early great players for the Red Stockings was a second baseman by the name of Bid McPhee. He held the club's all-time hit record until Pete Rose broke it in 1975.

The turn of the century saw one of the most colorful men ever associated with the team take over the presidency of the club. August "Garry" Herrmann was the club president from 1902 until 1927 when he was forced to retire because of blindness.

A host of famous players paraded through the Herrmann regime. Noodles Hahn was a standout pitcher and Cy Seymour won the Reds' first batting championship, hitting .378 in 1905, a mark that still stands in the Cincinnati record book.

And later came Edd Roush, an all-time great centerfielder, and Heinie Groh, the famous third baseman who used a bottle bat. They formed the nucleus of Cincinnati's first pennant winner in 1919 and then beat the Chicago White Sox in the World Series.

The Reds came close the next few years, but couldn't match up with John McGraw's powerful New York Giants. Eppa Rixey, who holds the club record with 179 career wins; Catcher Bubbles Hargrave, the first catcher ever to win a batting title; and Red Lucas, a strong righthanded pitcher and one of the best hitting pitchers ever to play, kept the Reds in the running during the 20's, but there wasn't another pennant until 1939.

After Herrmann resigned control of the club in the late 20's, Sidney Weil assumed command. When the depression crippled him, Powel Crosley purchased the Reds, more for civic purposes than any other cause. It was strongly rumored that the Cincinnati franchise might be moved and Crosley felt that the City needed a major league baseball team.

Crosley, the famous radio tycoon, was sold on the franchise by Larry MacPhail, the club's general manager. MacPhail, who had made a name for himself at Columbus, was one of the early promoters and opened up a new era of baseball when the Reds became the first team to play at night. Lights were installed at Crosley Field and the Reds and Phillies met in the first night game on May 24, 1935.

Two years later a new chapter opened in Cincinnati as Warren Giles was named the club's general manager. Although the Reds finished last in Giles' first year, the team began to move in 1938, jumping to fourth. By 1939 the club had matured into the National League's best. The Reds won back to back pennants in '39-'40 and captured the World Series in 1940, beating the Detroit Tigers in an exciting seven-game series.

Some of the great names of Reds' history were on those clubs. Paul Derringer, Bucky Walters and Johnny Vander Meer were well-known pitchers. Ernie Lombardi, Frank McCormick and Walters were Most Valuable Player winners.

World War II and age caught up with the Reds in the 40's and the club began rebuilding in the late 40's and early 50's. Ewell Blackwell became the only pitcher to pitch in six consecutive All-Star games. Ted Kluszewski was signed off the Indiana University campus. Roy McMillan was developing into one of the best shortstops in baseball.

But Giles left the Reds in 1951 and was named President of the National League. His successor was Gabe Paul who put together a powerful hitting team in the mid-fifties. The Reds nearly won the pennant in 1956, losing by two games to Brooklyn, but the fans fell in love with this team. The Reds hit the million mark in paid attendance for the first time and in '56 they tied the NL record for most team home runs, 221. Birdie Tebbetts was named Manager of the Year.

Fred Hutchinson, whose No. 1 is the only team number officially retired, took command of the Reds in 1960 and in '61 they startled most baseball "experts" by winning the NL pennant. Frank Robinson, who had been Rookie of the Year in 1956, was Most Valuable Player, and Vada Pinson nearly won the batting title. Under Hutch, who died of cancer in 1964, the Reds remained close. They won 98 games in 1962, but finished third. They came within one game in 1964.

Rumors again spread in 1966 that the Reds would leave Cincinnati. They were silenced quickly, however, when a group of businessmen headed by Francis L. Dale purchased the Reds and pledged allegiance to the city with a 40-year lease, thus assuring construction of a new stadium.

The group named Bob Howsam General Manager in 1967 and since Howsam assumed command the Cincinnati franchise has become the best in baseball. Sparky Anderson was named manager in 1970 and under his guidance the Reds have won four pennants in seven seasons.

The Reds moved into Riverfront Stadium June 30, 1970, ending a long, long association with Crosley Field. A total of 4,543 games were played at the old park which was officially dedicated April 11, 1912. It was known then as Redland Field and changed to Crosley Field after Powel Crosley purchased the Reds.

Reds Three-Time All-Star Hosts

The All-Star game has been played in Cincinnati three times since it was first begun in 1933.

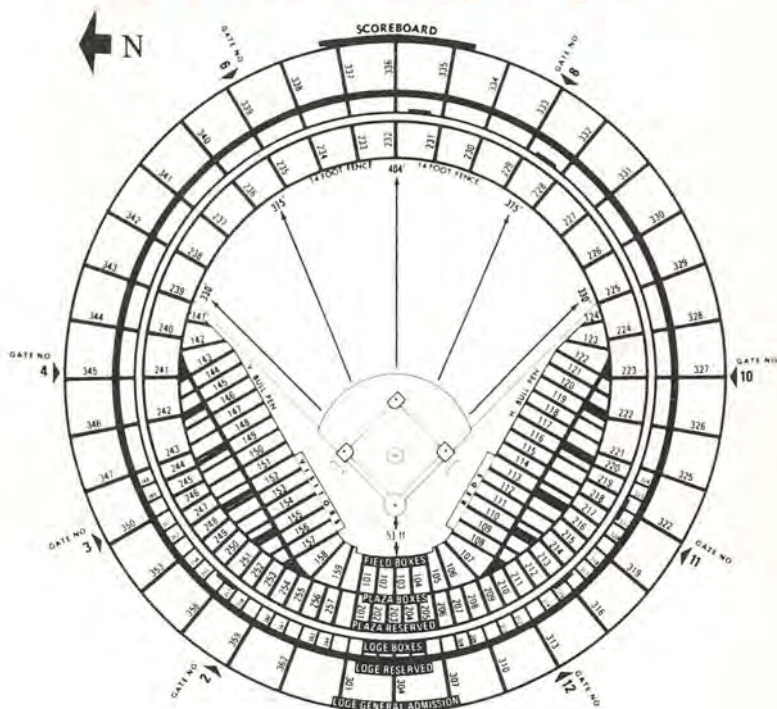

Twice it was staged at Crosley Field — in 1938 and 1953 — and once at Riverfront Stadium, in 1970. All three games saw the National League win.

Johnny Vander Meer, pitching in front of the home fans, was the winner in 1938, 4-1, while another Cincinnati player, Ival Goodman made a sensational defensive play preserving the victory.

The Nationals won the 1953 contest, 5-1. Ted Kluszewski and Gus Bell were in the starting lineup.

Pete Rose was the hero in the 1970 game, scoring the winning run in the bottom of the 12th inning, giving the NL a 5-4 victory. Rose scored on the highly controversial play when he crashed into Ray Fosse.

STADIUM

Riverfront Stadium

Riverfront Stadium, situated along side the Ohio River just south of downtown Cincinnati, has been home of the Cincinnati Reds since June 30, 1970 when the first baseball game was played in the circular arena.

Built for an estimated cost of $50,000,000, the stadium was financed through the revenue bonds issued by Hamilton County and backed by the City of Cincinnati.

When constructed it had most of the latest features offered outdoor stadiums. The nearly all Astro Turf playing surface was the first of its kind in the major leagues, with only sliding areas around the bases, the pitcher's mound and the batter's box not being covered by artificial turf.

A flood wall protects against high waters from the Ohio. In case of a flood, entrances can be sealed off so that while flood waters would be in garages, the playing area, locker rooms, etc., would be dry. The flood wall protects against waters up to 78 feet deep.

The stadium sits in the middle of one of the world's largest parking garages. Three levels of parking in the garage accommodate 2,500 cars while the top or plaza level has spaces for 75 busses and vans. Another 2,000 cars can be parked on surface lots to the East and West of the Stadium while within a 12-block radius of Riverfront there is enough parking to handle 20,000 automobiles.

Inter-State highways 75, 74 and 71 make Riverfront easily accessible from most parts of Ohio, Kentucky, Indiana and other sections of Reds Country.

The baseball field is symmetrical in design with measurements reaching 330 feet down each foul line, 375 feet in the left center and right center power alleys and 404 feet to the deepest part in centerfield.

Lighting is about the best in any professional sports stadium. More than 1,700 1,000-watt bulbs turn night into day at Riverfront.

For the statistically minded, the stadium required 370,000 lineal feet (70 miles) of reinforced concrete piling; 162,000 cubic yards of reinforced concrete; 9,500 tons of structural steel; 13,000 tons of reinforced steel; 600,000 square feet of masonry and 123,000 square feet of Astro Turf.

Reds Lead In Attendance

The Cincinnati Reds not only won their second consecutive World Championship in 1976, they also led the major leagues in attendance for the second time.

The Reds drew 2,629,708 — a one season club record — to lead the majors for the first time since 1939.

It was the fourth consecutive season that Cincinnati drew more than two million fans and the 2.6 plus total was the fourth largest one-season total registered in history. Cincinnati is the fifth organization to draw two million paid fans four straight years.

The Reds hit the one million mark the earliest ever, moving into seven figures on the 30th home date, June 29, against Philadelphia. The Reds crossed the two million barrier on the 56th date, Aug. 22 against the Chicago Cubs.

When the Reds passed 2.5 million on Sept. 21, they became only the fourth team to reach that mark in a season.

Cincinnati broke its regular season one-game mark twice in the first three dates in 1976, drawing 52,949 Opening Day and then 53,390 three days later on Jacket Day.

Ten times the Reds drew more than 50,000 fans. All but three of the paid crowds were more than 20,000.

Among the many new records set was a four-game, four-date mark. That was accomplished Aug. 26-29 when 190,382 fans turned out for a series with the Phils. In all, 12 series drew more than 100,000 fans.

Philadelphia, Montreal and Houston all played before their biggest crowds in Cincinnati. A new two-night doubleheader mark was established when 53,328 turned out to see the Reds and Pirates play on July 9.

Since playing their first game at Riverfront on June 30, 1970, the Reds have been among the attendance leaders in the major leagues. Cincinnati is the only team to sell out a regular season series in advance, doing that in 1974 and 1975 against Los Angeles. The Reds were the first team to completely sell out the Championship Series in advance, doing it first in 1973.

44 Million See Baseball in 1976

More than 44 million persons attended professional baseball games during 1976, including a record breaking 31,318,331 in the major leagues.

All Championship Series games in both leagues were sold out for the first time and the usual large World Series crowds pushed the post-season average to 54,625. This was an increase of 5,500 over the previous post-season mark set in 1969.

Minor League and Scouting

The Cincinnati Reds have one of the top farm systems in all of baseball which has produced many top, young players in recent years.

Headed by Sheldon "Chief" Bender, the Reds' minor league structure includes five teams — Class AAA Indianapolis (American Association), Class AA Three Rivers (Eastern League), Class A Tampa (Florida State League), Class A Eugene (Northwest League) and Rookie Billings (Pioneer League).

Last year Reds farm clubs were among the most successful in all baseball. They compiled a winning percentage of .534, winning 294 games while losing only 257. Two clubs — Three Rivers and Tampa — won division championships.

Leading the way at Indianapolis was first baseman Dave Revering. Rev hit 27 home runs to finish second in the American Association behind Roger Freed's 42, and he batted .290, his highest mark in six years of minor league action.

Third baseman Ray Knight, who played briefly with the Reds in 1974, had a fine season as the Indians' man at the hot corner. He was voted the top defensive third baseman in the Association and also batted .268 with 10 home runs.

Joe Henderson, Tom Hume and Larry Payne headed the Indians' pitching staff. Henderson, who was called to Cincinnati the final month of the season and was impressive, won the league ERA title with Indianapolis. He posted a 2.31 mark and in the last week of the season won the race with 11 innings of standout pitching. Last year Pat Zachry was the ERA champion in the Association.

Hume and Payne were starters for Indy. Both won nine games and are former No. 1 draft choices.

Three Rivers won the National Division of the Eastern League. Sparking Roy Majtyka's club was outfielder Steve Henderson. Henderson, a fifth round draft choice out of Prairie View College in 1974, batted .312 to finish third in the Eastern League batting race. He led the league in hits (158), total bases (255) and triples (11) and set new Three Rivers club records in home runs (17) and stolen bases (44).

Other standouts in 1976 at Three Rivers included outfielder Dan Norman, shortstop Ron Oester, and pitchers Paul Moskau, Larry Rothchild and Mike LaCoss.

Norman tied Henderson with 17 home runs and also stole 33 bases as he hit .273. Oester, a native Cincinnati and a graduate of Withrow High School, is a slick fielding shortstop. He batted .247, but knocked in 44 runs.

Moskau has been a standout in the Cincinnati farm system since signing in 1975 after being the No. 3 pick in the June draft. He has been league earned run average champion his first two years, winning in Eugene in the Northwest League in '75 and at Three Rivers this year with a glittering 1.55. The righthanded Moskau was 13-6 with 11 complete games and he struck out 124 batters in 180 innings. He's also a potent hitter. A .411 hitter at Azusa Pacific College, Moskau batted .284 this year and was called on often as a pinch-hitter.

Minor League and Scouting

Rothschild, another righthander, was used in both starting and relief roles. He completed 10 of his 12 starts and was 11-3 with a 2.05 earned run average. He hails from Woody Woodward's Florida State University team and was signed by the Reds as a free agent, not being picked in the draft.

LaCoss is in his fourth season in the Cincinnati farm system and was 11-10 at Three Rivers with a fine 3.02 ERA. He had eight complete games in 24 starts.

Pitchers Larry Pekarick and Mario Soto, righthanders, sparked Tampa (Class A) to the Northern Division title in the Florida State League.

Pekarick was 14-7, posted eight shutouts and was third in the league with a 1.94 earned run average. Soto was 13-7 and finished second in ERA at 1.87. He led the league in strikeouts (124) and innings pitched (197).

Relief pitcher Geoff Combe was 9-2 with a 2.12 ERA and led the league with 13 saves.

Heading Tampa's offense was outfielder Don Lyle. He hit .288 and belted seven home runs, a very respectable figure in a league that is pitcher dominated annually. Outfielder Micky Duval also stole 39 bases.

The Reds' No. 1 pick last January, Duane Walker, of Pasadena, Tx., had a fine season his first year, splitting the season between Eugene and Tampa. Walker batted .285 at Eugene and stole 43 bases overall. Of his 43 hits at Eugene, 24 were for extra bases. Scott Brown headed up the Eugene pitching staff. He was 6-4 but posted seven complete games in 11 starts and had a 2.42 ERA.

Outfielder Paul Herring led the way for Billings of the Rookie League. He batted .283, hit six home runs and knocked in 45 runs in only 68 games.

Top pitcher was reliever Larry Frakes. He was 8-0, led the league in earned run average with 1.53 and had seven saves. Starter Bill Dawley struck out 80 batters in 78 innings, won six of 10 decisions and finished third in the league ERA race with a 2.77 mark.

A strong farm system is vital for a continual strong major league club and it appears the Reds are on the right track.

The spring training home for the Reds is Tampa, Fla., about 1,000 miles down Interstate 75 from Cincinnati. This is the 44th year of training in Tampa since the Reds first went to the Cigar City in 1931, training there continuously except for three years during World War II when travel restrictions sent the Reds to the Indiana University campus in Bloomington.

The Reds play their home Grapefruit League pre-season games at Al Lopez Field on Tampa's West Side. The field is named in honor of former American League catcher and manager Al Lopez, a Tampa native.

Early training and site of Cincinnati's minor league spring headquarters is Redsland, a $250,000 complex consisting of four baseball diamonds, a central observation tower, four batting cages and three warm up pitching areas.

Redsland, which is located three blocks south of Al Lopez Field on Tampa's Dale Mabry Avenue, is built on a 1,000 by 1,230-foot lot. It was constructed in 1969 after the Tampa Sports Authority built Tampa Stadium on the Reds' former minor league complex.

This spring the Reds play a 25-game pre-season schedule. Fourteen of the games will be played at Al Lopez Field against 14 different opponents including the New York Yankees, the Reds' rival in last year's World Series.

Cincinnati pitchers and catchers report to Redsland Feb. 25 with the first workout scheduled Feb. 26. The remainder of the squad reports March 2 with the first workout March 3. The first pre-season game is March 12 against the Pittsburgh Pirates in Bradenton.
